Class of The Week: Elm Class

What an exciting term it has been for our incredible Elm class! Our pupils have shown their amazing creativity and hard work, making this term one to remember.

Our young authors have been busy crafting some spine-chilling stories! From mysterious monsters to eerie settings, the gruesome stories written pupils have been absolutely thrilling. It has been wonderful to see their imagination come to life on paper, and we cannot wait to read even more of their fantastic creations.

In maths, Elm class has been working hard to master fractions. Pupils have been showing great progress and developing a real confidence in their skills.

Our Geography topic this term has taken us around the world, with a fascinating focus on the Day of the Dead. We have explored this Mexican tradition, learning about the history, symbols, and cultural significance behind the celebration. It has been a wonderful opportunity to embrace diversity and gain a deeper understanding of different cultures.

As the weather warmed up, Elm class have been enjoying some outdoor time taking part in sports, with rounders being the game of choice! It has been a fantastic way to develop teamwork and physical skills while soaking up the sunshine. The enthusiasm and energy from have made these sessions an absolute highlight of the term.

All in all, it has been an amazing term for Elm class, filled with creativity, learning, and fun. We cannot wait to see what the next term has in store for us!

We had the school library bus visit Littlegreen this week. Pupils were able to jump on board and choose some books for their own mini libraries. It was an exciting experience for the pupils, who were thrilled to explore the wide range of books available. From adventure stories to educational reads, everyone found something that sparked their imagination. The library bus not only brought a wealth of books to the school but also created a fun and interactive atmosphere, fostering a love for reading among the pupils. The pupils could not wait to start reading their new selections and are already looking forward to the next visit!
