Class of The Week: Elm

Elm Class has had a wonderful week continuing to build friendships and trying exciting activities together. Pupils have warmly welcomed Teachers Sarah and Tiff into the class, it has been lovely to see the beginning of positive relationships and connections forming. Throughout the week, Pupils particularly enjoyed spending time playing board games together, which created great opportunities for teamwork, communication, and lots of laughter. These shared activities have helped strengthen the sense of community within Elm Class. In our learning time, we have also been exploring where our food comes from, thinking about how different foods are grown or produced before they reach our plates. One of the highlights was a blindfolded food tasting activity, where the boys used their senses to guess different foods. This was a fun and engaging way to encourage curiosity and discussion, and everyone showed great bravery in giving new foods a try. It has been a positive and enjoyable week in Elm Class, with plenty of smiles, teamwork, and learning

Subject of The Week: Humanities

What a  brilliant few weeks in Humanities and Topic work it has been. Pupils have been traveling through time and across landscapes to better understand the world we live in. We are so proud of the curiosity and hard work shown in our latest projects.

Our historians have been diving deep into the realities of World War II. We were particularly impressed by the pupils' ability to identify the major challenges faced by civilians during the War. From the bravery required during the Blitz to the daily puzzles of rationing, they showed incredible empathy in explaining how ordinary people stayed strong during extraordinary times.
From the pages of history to the fields of today, we have also spent time exploring the journey  from Farm to Fork. The pupils became experts in identifying different types of agriculture and why certain foods come from certain places. We covered:
Crop Farms: Where our grains, fruits, and vegetables are grown.
Livestock Farms: Where animals are raised.
Mixed Farms: The busy all-rounders that do a bit of both!
Pupils did a fantastic job matching everyday foods to the correct farms and explaining the environmental factors that make a farm successful.

It's wonderful to see such a strong connection to the world around us!

Right of the week

Food, Clothing And A Safe Home

Children have the right to food, clothing and a safe place to live so they can develop in the best possible way. The government should help families and children who cannot afford this.
